Members have agreed to share the organisation of field trips. Wayne will once again edit the newsletter. Kath Todd will continue to organise the Ringers.

Recent Sightings

The Grey-tailed Tattler was seen at Ahuriri on 7 April along with a few godwit. Most of the waders have now left. Look out for the tattler over winter as it may stay around.

The Royal Spoonbill numbers are building up. In early April there were 28 at Ahuriri including a colour-banded bird, on 22 April there were between 80 and 90 birds. The banded bird was seen here last April also, and was banded as a chick at the Wairau Lagoon in Marlborough in 2005.

On April 25 Margaret and Wayne saw two bittern in the wetland opposite Waitangi. This new area is well worth a visit. A recent newspaper report about the wetland restoration project said four bittern were there. Five dabchick were also seen by us.

Between April 21 and 29 there was a national Black-fronted Tern survey co-ordinated by Andrew Crossland and Scott Butcher. While the big numbers will be in the South Island still, we have checked out the likely locations in Hawke's Bay. Waitangi and the Tukituki Estuary had just one bird each, and at Waimarama Beach there were three. All were adults. They will be arriving here in the next month or so though so keep an eye out for them. It is interesting sorting out the first and second year birds, and some are colour- banded too.
